What is findhelp.org certification?

Findhelp.org certification is a recognition of achievement with the findhelp platform. This opportunity is open to anyone, and intended for people who are connecting others to services and who manage program listings on the findhelp platform. The findhelp Community Engagement team offers training sessions and a quiz that allow individuals to become findhelp.org certified. After attending the 101 training (An introduction to findhelp.org) and the 201 training (Navigating your free suite of tools), individuals are invited to take a quiz to become findhelp.org certified!

What are the benefits of certification?

Being certified is a great way for individuals and programs to stand out in the network. There are a number of benefits associated with our certification program. After passing the quiz with 7+ out of 10 correct answers, you will receive a welcome letter via email with instructions on how to get started!

Certification benefits include:

- Access to our online community of other professional Navigators
- A certification badge to add to your LinkedIn profile and website
- Opportunities to speak on panels in partnership with findhelp.org
- Certification icon on program listing(s) for certified claimers

A key benefit of our certification program is that individuals who have both gotten certified and claimed their program will automatically see a certification icon on their program listings. Their listings will also appear higher in search results, representing the most highly engaged organizations in the findhelp network!
