Attane Health and Findhelp are partnering to offer customers inclusive access to personalized, nutritious groceries, prescription produce boxes, health coaching, and educational resources for those living with chronic health conditions.

Attane Health partners with payers, providers, hospitals, and community-based organizations to change the way healthcare treats patients living with chronic medical conditions. Your care navigators can easily screen patients for specific nutritional needs and direct them to Attane Health to provide inclusive access to personalized, nutritious groceries and educational resources for those living with chronic health conditions and/or individuals experiencing food insecurity.

About Findhelp

Building healthier and happier communities starts with supporting the whole person. That's why Findhelp was founded in 2010: to connect all people in need to the programs that serve them with dignity and ease.

Our software platform enables community organizations, governments, and businesses across industries to easily manage and coordinate care. From screening and closed-loop referrals to outcomes tracking and actionable health equity insights, Findhelp is leading the modernization of the social safety net.

About Attane Health

Attane Health provides inclusive access to personalized, nutritious groceries and educational resources for those living with chronic health conditions. Attane Health is the first patient-driven, digital health platform providing personalized food selection within the member's cultural norms and preferences, while allowing patients, providers, and payers to measure specific health outcomes.

How It Works

Your staff and navigators can find your unique program card with your specific eligibility criteria to place referrals and connect them directly with health coaching, nutrient-dense groceries, and produce boxes.

- Staff navigate to your Attane Health program card on your branded Findhelp platform to verify eligibility information.
- A referral is created, with the individual's consent, and sent to the Attane Health team. They follow up with the seeker and provide personalized health coaching, nutrient-dense groceries, and produce boxes.
- Attane Health updates the referral to 'Got Help' and closes the loop, so you can track outcomes.

This workflow reduces documentation and streamlines efficiency while capturing relevant social determinants of health (SDoH) data about the populations you serve. You can track updates, close the loop on referrals, and analyze individual and aggregate data to drive strategic decisions. You can share your Attane Health programs in over 100 different languages via the Findhelp platform.
