

Solutions for Healthcare

Findhelp works with more than 235 healthcare customers, varying in size, specialty, and geography. From independent safety-net hospitals to large academic medical centers and multi-state or national systems, we help connect patients to local services and track social outcomes.

These linkages between healthcare providers and community-based organizations (CBOs) support population health initiatives, prevention, and value-based care. Connecting patients to CBO services can help reduce avoidable emergency room visits and inpatient admissions, prevent chronic disease, and improve community health. Findhelp supports value-driven care with our nationwide network, supportive workflows, self-navigation capabilities, assessment and referral tools, electronic health record (EHR) integrations, and more.

Who would use Findhelp at your organization?

Any care team member can use Findhelp to connect patients to the resources they need to improve health outcomes. Health systems often use Findhelp to support discharge planning and successful care transitions. Findhelp also supports meaningful and trackable connections to CBOs following mandatory social needs screening. In the outpatient setting, Findhelp supports advanced primary care workflows that enable care teams to identify and address health-related social needs as part of annual visits, enhanced care management, and complex patient care.
